Little Cites Figures On Hospital Bed Lack

Inadequacy of present local hospital facilities is pointed up by a recent release from Mississippi State Hospital Association which displays an alarmingly low proportion of nurses and hospital beds per capita in Hancock County.

The state-wide average rate of population to bed capacity is one for each 123.6 persons. In Hancock County, with one 12-bed hospital, and a 1950 U.S. census Bureau population of 14,396, there is one bed for each 1,199.66 residents.

If the proposed 30-bed Hancock County Hospital is completed there will be one bed for each 479.86 residents, still way below the state average.

The board of supervisors is scheduled to receive a second set of bids at a special session Monday for the new building.

Meanwhile, Edgar Little, hospital administrator, noted other serious gaps in the county's medical care facilities.

"We simply don't have the facilities to do the things that our physicians are quite capable of handling," he said.

Major surgery is impossible because there is no operating room and no license for such work, he said.

Shortage of space, along with lack of facilities, are problems which will be alleviated if the new hospital is completed, Little continued.

Presently, there is no isolation space. In case of a serious epidemic of polio, diphtheria or typhoid fever, such space could become absolutely vital.

The new hospital is designed to accommodate at least four isolation cases.

Elaborating on the need for surgical facilities, Little noted that one third of a hospital's income can be derived from surgical payments.

Storage space, including a central supply center, is sorely missed at the Carroll Avenue

Cancer Drive Finally Starts In Hancock

Hancock County's 1959 Cancer Crusade moved into full swing this week following several weeks' delay to enable the Red Cross drive to conclude during which the crusade has been conducted ineffectively.

Mrs. Lewis M. Wagner, crusade chairman, reported that contributions are coming in slowly but steadily from all parts of the county. She noted that it is inevitable that the drive be extended because of the slowness in beginning solicitations.

"We want every person possible in Hancock County to examine closely the brief pamphlet which we are distributing," Mrs. Wagner said. "This little leaflet, in few words, describes the seven danger signals of cancer. It has been proved that some forms of cancer, if discovered in early stages of development, definitely can be cured. The tragedy lies in allowing curable cancer forms to become so widespread through ignorance of symptoms until it is too late to receive proper medical care."

Mrs. George Steltz, prominent for a number of years in assisting in the crusade, has accepted the chairmanship in Waveland.

A goal of $1,100 has been assigned to Hancock County and Crusaders have high hopes of topping the quota.

Volunteers are needed and are asked to contact Mrs. Gordon Romanoff, Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Steltz, Waveland; Mrs. Reginald Moran, Lakeshore-Clermont Harbor; Mrs. Waldo Otis, Logtown, or Mrs. Wagner.

Development of a junior achievement program in the county was suggested by Berckes, who has worked with the program, particularly in the woodworking phase, quite extensively in New Orleans.

Dantagnan suggested manufacture of cedar chests and other wood products as a possible industry in Hancock County. McDonald said he would be willing to lease a woodworking plant he owned to any promising firm.

Plastics production was another industry suggested as apt for this county by Berckes, who said a plastics firm could operate on a smaller scale than many others could.

Berckes suggested that locating of small government agencies within the county was a good means of supplying jobs within the county even if it did not involve actual production.

Members agreed to begin immediately to prepare the labor questionnaire and to await further suggestions next week from Industrial and Agricultural Board member Henry Mattox of Jackson, scheduled to meet with the group Wednesday.

The migration church of Our Lady of the Gulf parish at Bayou La Croix will hold a dinner all day Sunday on the church grounds to raise funds for the parish school bus. Games will be played with music provided by a hill-billy band. Political candidates are invited to attend.

Randolph Bourgeois, fish and game warden, said he will announce shortly for District 5 J.P.

Two new candidates for District 5 Constable are City Patrolman Arthur (Pat) Garcia and Game Warden Nolan A. Kingston.

The auxiliary to the Hancock County post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will entertain with a spaghetti supper from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday at the Knights of Columbus Hall as a fund-raising project.

Ed Poyadon became the first to file for the office of coroner and ranger. John Andrew Breland joined the contest for district 1 Supervisor and Deputy Sheriff James Nacaise made formal announcement of his entry in the District 4 Supervisor's race.

Lamar Otis of Logtown stepped onto the local political stage this week after resigning from his post of 35 years as secretary of the County Democratic executive committee to run for the office of circuit clerk in the August 4 Democratic primary election. He will oppose Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

The executive committee met last Friday at the Courthouse to accept Otis' resignation and elected another Logtown man.

Industrial Labor Check Is Approved

Preparation of a labor questionnaire for all potential county laborers was accepted as an initial project during a brainstorming organizational meeting of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Industrial Projects Committee Wednesday night as the first step in surveying the county's industrial potential.

John McDonald suggested that the committee, designed to foster new industry within the county, place a brief questionnaire in local newspapers, asking county residents the amount and type of employment they are seeking. Chairman A. G. Dantagnan had pointed out that many persons retired to this area seeking part-time employment that they could not gain in other resort areas, such as Florida.

"Many people with small pensions," he said, "would like to supplement their incomes with part-time salaries. They can go to nearby cities outside the county now, but that is not enough. We must offer them something here," the chairman declared. E. M. Brignac Jr. suggested that the questionnaire be placed in the Rural Electric Administration publication which reaches nearly all county residents. Leo W. Seal Jr. added that it could be placed also with bills sent at the end of the month by local businesses and banks.

Members instructed Mrs. Mabel Green, secretary, to contact the Pascagoula Chamber of Commerce, which Norton Haas Jr. said already had distributed a similar questionnaire, for suggestions on composition and distribution.

Dantagnan displayed a sketch of a 115-acre plot of land on the L and N right of way, which had been mentioned before as an ideal industrial site. Situated on Webb Avenue, it has access also to the railroad and Old Spanish Trail.

Brignac noted that any industrial survey should point up the navigability of the Jordan River, adding that its banks offered another good site for industry.

Haas noted that the county is known to have the best ground water supply in Mississippi.

H. C. Berckes said that New Orleans industrial space was just about completely filled and that industry was being forced to look to surrounding areas for expansion or new development. He suggested that political interests kept Louisiana businessmen from developing across the state line.

Development of a junior achievement program in the county was suggested by Berckes, who has worked with the program, particularly in the woodworking phase, quite extensively in New Orleans.

Lakeshore Child First Drowning Victim of 1959

A two-year-old Lakeshore child was the first to drown in Hancock County this year reports Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

The body of Steve Dabenoport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Dabenoport, was dragged from seven feet of water in a canal off the Bay at 4:20 p.m. Wednesday by Sheriff Ladner and Wilfred Bordages.

A search party was organized immediately after the toddler's expectant mother notified the sheriff at 2:30 that her son, who had been fishing with her and three other children, had been missing since 1 p.m.

City Schools To Graduate 64 This Year

Plans for commencement exercises in late May are under way by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System, according to J. D. McCulloch, president.

A graduating class of about 46 members is contemplated at Bay High School with the ceremonies scheduled on May 27, preceded by vespers services on Sunday, May 17.

Valena C. Jones School is expected to graduate a class of 18 on May 25 with its baccalaureate the day before, Sunday, May 24.

Purchase of diplomas for the classes of the two schools was authorized by the City School Board at its April meeting.

Payment of current bills totaling about $1,500 was (Cont. on Page 6)

Mrs. Dabenoport said she last saw the child between 12:30 and 1 p.m. They were fishing with two other sons, Jeff 4, and Walter, 3, and a daughter, Mary, 5.

The mother and other children searched the surrounding area and checked back at the home, where they moved a month ago from New Orleans, but found no trace of the victim. They were living with the child's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Parker.

Ladner said he dragged the water with hooks from a motor boat driven by Bordages. Others in the search party included Chief Deputy Carl Garcia, Deputy Raul Telhiard, Lloyd J. Ladner, R. J. Ladner, Highway Patrolman W. P. Kenny, Herbert Peterson, Ken Whitfield and City Patrolman Arthur (Pat) Garcia.

A Fahey Funeral Home aqua lung diving device was being set up when the body was found, Sheriff Ladner said.

A coroner's jury empaneled by Coroner Emile Piazza attributed death to drowning. Carl Garcia was bailiff. Jurors were R. J. Ladner, Lloyd Ladner, Wilfred Bordages, Raul Telhiard, Arthur Garcia and Sheriff Ladner.

The body was taken to Fahey Funeral Home where services were this morning with religious rites at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church with the Rev. Kevin Reid officiating. Burial was in Lakeshore Cemetery.

Other survivors include a twin brother and sister, Ann and Jerry, 4, and a half-brother, Patrick Edward, 13.

A letter from U. S. Senator Russell B. Long (D.-La.), to Waveland Mayor Garfield Ladner, sets date for decision on discontinuance of Louisville and Nashville Railroad passenger trains 9 and 12 at May 2.

Sen. Long enclosed a letter addressed to him by Kenneth H. Tuggle, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission which heard the pleading protest by commuters against the proposed discontinuance in January.

Tuggle told Long that briefs and reply briefs had been filed by the commuters and by the railroad attorneys, Rudolph Vorbusch of Waveland, New Orleans attorney, headed the commuter protest.

Any order requiring continuance of the trains must be issued not later than May 2, Tuggle said.

Trading stamps will be introduced in Hancock County this week at the Jitney Jungle Store in Bay St. Louis, J. R. Scharff, proprietor, has announced. Joining his store in the merchandising promotion will be Jerome's Department Store.

Jitney Jungle will give, this week only, enough Grand Prize stamps to each customer to fill the first page in his stamp book. A coupon in the store's advertisement on Page 5 of The Sea Coast Echo will be good for 100 extra stamps with a $10 purchase or more. Many attractive gifts which may be obtained with the stamps are listed in a catalogue obtainable at the store.

Waveland Council Slated To Study Dog Ordinance

Along with its new pound, Waveland may get a new stray dog ordinance to replace the present one passed in 1888, according to Mayor Garfield Ladner.

Mayor Ladner expects the question to be raised at the next regular meeting of town council May 5. The mayor thinks the present law is too stringent in some respects.

Still to be decided is who is to serve as dog catcher, since

Marshall Fred Bourgeois' duties as marshal might conflict with the new job.

Aid Fellowships

The Rotary Club, meeting Wednesday, voted to assess each member $1 a year, beginning in May, to assist the Rotary Foundation Fellowships under which a Mississippian, Keith Smith of Petal, is to study next fall at the University of Birmingham, England.

Expansion Planned By Burgermaster's

Plans for expansion of Burgermaster's restaurant at 107 South Beach Boulevard were announced this week by Mrs. John A. Weathers, proprietor.

Adjoining buildings at 109 and 111 South Beach will be leased to provide space for a lounge and a private dining room and the present quarters will be used primarily for younger patrons.

Mrs. Weathers said she hopes the expanded facilities will be ready for a mid-May opening. The bulk of the necessary renovations will be on the interior and a connecting corridor is being constructed.

HOME FOR DOGS—Stray Waveland dogs will be put in this newly finished dog pound which Mayor Garfield Ladner is shown inspecting.

Be Fair to All

Tried in the newspapers is a charge frequently leveled at newspapers. It is probably the most valid complaint made against the modern American newspaper. But is it the newspaper's fault? Is it not usually the reader of the paper, or even people who have not read the paper, who try a case, criminal or civil, without waiting for the more complete evidence available at a trial?

Last week this area had two instances involving prominent people. As yet no one has given testimony subject to cross examination and to the charge of perjury. The Echo, admittedly without concrete proof, ventures the guess that each case has been tried in the minds of most adults living in this area. Complainers and defendants alike will blame newspapers should a court not agree with their views.

In fairness to newspapers as well as litigants in a court action, the public should not decide a case before it is tried.

Water and Clermont Harbor

Even the sulphur flavored water of Bay St. Louis is mighty valuable when one is thirsty. Many may disagree, but $20 or $25 a year for water is hardly exorbitant. It isn't even outrageous for part-year residents. It's another matter if the water isn't there and you've paid only $16 a year for it. These seem to be the primary points raised by the current controversy between the Clermont Harbor Waterworks and some of its customers.

Another aspect of the utility's application to raise rates arises from the fact that it is a utility. A utility is entitled to a reasonable return on its investment, usually in the six to eight per cent bracket. While not an invariable standard, investment normally means actual amount paid less depreciation. The sole owner of the Clermont Harbor Waterworks, Ray W. Planchard, and his attorney, Rep. Walter James Phillips, insist that the value of the investment of the utility is $70,000, some of which is admittedly not in the name of either the utility or its owner.

The picture is further clouded due to the non-separability of the utility's assets and the personal ones of its owner, Planchard. For instance $7,650 of the investment value of the utility as estimated by Planchard consists of land for six wells or land for future wells, the recorded owner in some cases being neither Planchard nor the utility. Even if title to this property were in Planchard's name it is not necessarily committed to the use of the utility. In other words it could be sold and, the utility not being a separate legal entity, the purchase price would belong to Planchard individually. In turn this would be absolute evidence that the property never had been the utility's.

If Planchard can prove that his utility has invested in it even close to the $70,000 claimed and show that the service is adequate, he is entitled to at least the raise in charges requested. If the opponents of the raise can show inadequate service, the utility is not only not entitled to increased charges, but its franchise can be taken away.

The controversy has many facets.

Yesterday a child was accidentally drowned at Lake. In this instance a course in lifesaving for those present would have had little value, but the accident points up two things: the seasonal increase in water safety problems, and the Red Cross's activities in giving instruction in swimming and in lifesaving.

For $50 the Red Cross offers to train eligible individuals as an instructor in lifesaving. The course is for ten days, is at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and the cost includes room and board. If one life is saved, the price is mighty low.

County Agent Notes

PASTURE WEED CONTROL

Spring weeds are at their best (or worst) now, so you can go out and see just how badly your pastures are infested with these weeds.

These weeds don't do as much damage as the ones that will come on in the summer. This is because we have more good grazing plants now than we do in the summer.

Spraying with 2,4-D will control most of the weeds that infest your pastures. If possible, spray before cotton comes up. If you must wait until after cotton is up, use extra care. Make sure that you do not spray pastures close to cotton fields. Watch out for the wind drift when you spray.

ELECTRIC SAFETY

Money has been responsible for many a crime, including robbery, embezzlement and murder. But who would think that two pennies could become deadly killers?

It happened. Recently in another state, two small children were killed by two innocent-looking pennies. They were burned to death in a fire caused by pennies in a fuse box. The pennies had been placed behind a burned out fuse.

Never substitute pennies for fuses. Never over-fuse a circuit.

Make electricity work for you and don't let it become a killer or an arsonist. Check with your local electrician or electricity supplier for more information on safe use of electricity.

LAMB POOLS

The May market is usually best for spring lambs. But it is hard to out-guess the lamb market. A good rule to follow is: Sell the lambs when they are ready to sell. Spring lambs should weigh 85 to 95 pounds at selling time, and old crop lambs 95 to 105 pounds.

When spring lambs become available in fairly large numbers, the market for old crop lambs usually breaks. This usually happens after May 1. So get your old crop lambs ready for market before that date.

The closest sale scheduled to Hancock County at this time will be held at Hattiesburg on May 4.

HORN FLIES

Lots of horn flies are beginning to show up on cattle. These cost you money. They take a toll in weight and milk production. They may even spread disease.

Hornflies are not too hard to control. Homemade backrubbers work well if kept properly.

Six Leave For Army Physicals

Six Hancock County youths were sent last week to Jackson Army Air Base, Jackson, for pre-induction physicals, announced Mrs. Agnes Zengarl of the Selective Service office.

Sent were, William Dewey Strong, Ballentine Street; Larry Charles Ladner, Kiln; Harold Francis Neale, Pass Christian; Jimmy Ray Hoda, Pass charged with insecticide. Spraying at recommended intervals will also control these pests.

When treating for hornfly control, you also reduce numbers of other pests such as mosquitoes and horse flies.

County Spotlight is Focused on the Fashion Front

BLIND SEAMSTRESS—Mrs. M. W. Glossinger smilingly poses with her seeing eye dog, Nada, shortly after she received a blue ribbon for the dress which she is modeling in Friday afternoon's Home Demonstration Club's Cotton Dress Revue at the County Agricultural Building.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER—A mother, daughter and doll team were winners of the size 34 and under family group ensemble blue ribbon in Friday's Home Demonstration Cotton Dress Revue. Mrs. Leon Duplantier and daughter, Althea, holding her doll, Ruthie, model their costumes of rose jumpers with white polka dots and tulips in the print, worn over white blouses.

Blind Waveland Housewife Is Winner

A pretty blind Waveland housewife and mother, was winner in one of seven divisions of Friday's Home Demonstration Club Dress Revue in the County Agricultural Building.

Mrs. M. W. Glossinger, of Hoffman Lane, smiled vivaciously as she and her seeing eye dog, Nada, stepped up to accept a blue ribbon for the best afternoon dress in size 34 and under.

Other first place winners were Mrs. Leon Duplantier, Waveland, family group ensemble, size 34 and under; Mrs. Adron Pouncey, Leetown, family group ensemble, 34 and over; Mrs. Louis Moreau, Bay St. Louis, street dress, 34 and under; Mrs. J. L. Saleeby, Clermont Harbor, Street dress, size 34 and over; Mrs. Earl F. Gates, Waveland, afternoon dress, size 34 and over, and Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, Clermont Harbor, play dress, size 34 and over.

Mrs. Glossinger designed her fitted sheath with a lined jacket of polished pink and blue printed cotton. The three-quarter length sleeve jacket was of blue polished cotton lined with a print which matched the dress.

Blind for 16 and one half years, Mrs. Glossinger needs no assistance in her sewing other than in the cutting phase. Straight pins are placed with the heads to the edge of the fabric to guide her.

A proficient sewer before she was blinded, she did not attempt to return to the hobby until five or six years ago. This, she said, was the first dress she had attempted in the past year.

Her son, Marine Corps Pfc. Joseph Wilbert Nunez, is awaiting results of an examination for admittance to the U. S. Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md. Mrs. Glossinger proudly related.

Second and third prize winners Friday were a family group ensemble, 34 and under, Mrs. Chester Slaven, Gainesville, second, and Mrs. Leroy Luke, Bay St. Louis, third; family group ensemble, 34 and over, Mrs. Lillian Chagnar, Waveland, second.

Also, street dress, size 34 and under, Mrs. Catherine Saux, Bay St. Louis, second, and Mrs. James LaGasse, Waveland, third; street dress, 34 and over, Mrs. Lela LeVasseur, Waveland, second, and Mrs. Katherine Eccles, Flat Top, third.

Also, afternoon dress, size 34 and under, Mrs. Phillip Hayes, Bay St. Louis, second, and Mrs. M. R. Villere, Waveland, third; afternoon dress, size 34 and over, Mrs. R. F. Gray, Bay St. Louis, second, and Mrs. C. E. Becker, Clermont Harbor, third, and play dress, size 34 and over, Mrs. Zilyann Shiyon, Kiln, second.

Judges were Mrs. Melba Cole, Singer Sewing Machine Company, Gulfport; Mrs. Mary Nell Green, Pearl River County home demonstration agent, and Mrs. J. E. Erwin, Bay High School homemaker teacher.

Mrs. Allie LaFrance, narrator, presented ribbons to the winners. Mrs. R. F. Gray, Council president, gave a short welcome, and Mrs. Talmadge Mauldin, home demonstration agent, introduced the judges.

Judging was on the basis of posture, poise, grooming and attitude; suitability of material, style, accessories, construction and fit.

Style Show of Yacht Club Auxiliary Is Well Received

Beautiful, chic summer fashions modeled by a group of lovely models drew enthusiastic applause from the audience attending the annual fashion show presented last Saturday evening by members of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Auxiliary.

The main lounge of the club was transformed into an exquisite garden setting for the affair with a lavender, purple and white color scheme predominating.

Garlands of English ivy entwined the columns in the lounge setting off profusions of purple and white iris, sweetpeas, chrysanthemums and asters which were placed in bouquets in strategic points throughout the room.

Enhancing the mantel was an elaborate arrangement of lavender and white blossoms. Clotheslines hung with smart beachwear strung along the sides of the lounge carried out a summery theme.

Mrs. Nettie King, owner of New Orleans dress shop coordinated the show, assisted by Mrs. Elise Barlow, Mrs. Ella Mae Ramsey, and Mrs. Madelyn Kohn, buyers. Mrs. Kohn also modeled.

Mrs. A. O. Hoefeld, president of the auxiliary, was mistress of ceremonies.

Fashions shown included groups of casuals in the ever-popular separates line; playclothes with matching accessories; afternoon frocks and an unusually smart line of after-five and semi-formal gowns.

Modeling were Mesdames Robert Boh, Jo Gex, Gordon Geim, W. Ray Gordon, Mabel

Green, Walter Hava, Edward M. Heath Jr., Carlos Lozano, W. P. McCutcheon, John McDonald, Waldo Otis, D. R. Prentice, Herbert Rattenburg, Lillian Schaefer, Bert Steffel, Frank Stevens and Miss Marie Therese Staehle.

Refreshments were served later from a table covered with an imported Maderia cloth and centered with a large arrangement of purple and white iris and asters.

Mrs. Herbert Wise served as ticket chairman; Mesdames K. W. Pepperdene, Maybelle Smith, and Charles Lozano handled decorations; and Mrs. Henry Chapman was in charge of refreshments.

authorized but the board did not approve two items of about $75 which were said to have been contracted for in 1956 after Sam L. Favre Jr., board attorney, explained the body was not within its rights to pay items not budgeted in the current year.

In refusing to approve payment the board sounded a warning to business firms to be prompt in their billing. Principal objection to the payment came from Maurice J. Artigues, who argued that public funds should be carefully guarded and payment of this tardy account might set a dangerous precedent.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Note 50th Anniversary Tuesday

A golden orchid adorned the beige chiffon dress of Mrs. James M. Robert Tuesday when she and her husband received guests at a 50th wedding anniversary party in the New Orleans home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kerney Quinn Robert.

The two were married April 21, 1909, in New Orleans at the Episcopal Church of the Annunciation. Mr. Robert, who retired in 1950 after 16 years as dean of the engineering school at Tulane, was a professor there when they were married. Mrs. Robert was Gladys Kearny before her marriage.

They moved in 1950 to their summer home here at 608 Beach Blvd.

Assisting Mrs. Robert and her daughter-in-law in receiving the 125 guests was her granddaughter, Beverly Robert, 12. Her grandson, Kearny Robert, 16, also was present.

Another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Robert and daughters, Carolyn, Marsha and Jean of Lakeland, Calif., were unable to attend.

Hacker, of Pensacola, Fla., Mrs. Robert's sister, Miss Alice Robert of New Orleans, Dean Robert's sister, Mrs. Charles Patterson of Jackson, Mich., and Mrs. Frank Demarest, Miss Frances Hart, Mrs. Charles Hardy and Mrs. Charles Culbertson, all of New Orleans.

Golden tapers in silver candleholders and arrangements of golden flowers decorated the home. A three-tiered cake with golden decorations was on the refreshment buffet table.

The hostess planned a yellow rose corsage to her gold satin dress.

Miss Turner Wed to Dr. John C. Hart

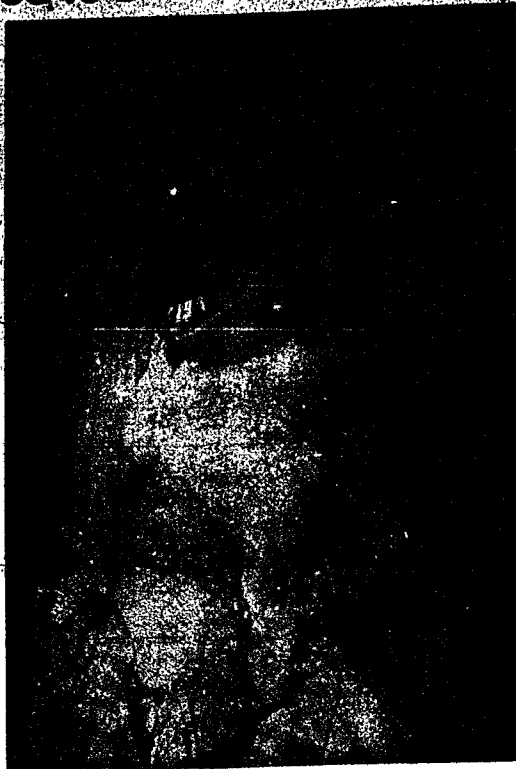

Dr. and Mrs. John Charles Hart, whose marriage was an event of March 19 at Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Church in New Orleans, are now at home at 3210 St. Roch Avenue in that city after a wedding trip to Nassau.

The bride is the former Miss Dorothy Carroll Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jennings Turner of Meridian and Bay St. Louis. The groom is the son of Mrs. Florence Bird Hart of Bremerton, Wash., and Charles Ewart Hart of Eden, N. Y.

Father Gordon officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white imported rosepoint lace and tulle, the bodice fashioned with a round neckline edged with an applique of the rose motif of lace and seed pearls. The long lace sleeves extended to calla points at the wrists and the princess skirt, accented at the waist with appliques of roses, extended into a cathedral train with an inset lace panel starting at the waist. Seed pearls trimmed the scalloped edges of the train and centered the roses of the appliques. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of lace and pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of fleur de mour centered with a white orchid. Her only jewels were pearl earrings and a necklace, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Tom Louis III, of New Orleans, the bride's only attendant, was in a waltz-length gown of pale blue silk organza over tulle with a crown of pearls holding in place her short illusion veil headpiece. Her bouquet was of glomellias.

Dr. John Pettis Culpepper III of Hattiesburg was best man with Dr. Adrian R. Hava of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis and Peter M. Lukinovich Jr. of New Orleans as ushers.

MRS. JOHN CHARLES HART

The bride's parents entertained with a reception afterwards at Lenfant's Boulevard Room where the three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with flowers and wedding bells, topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom figurines.

When the bride left on her wedding trip, she was wearing a beige linen dress with a matching jacket, the bodice of green and black silk with a jacket lined in the same material. Her accessories were beige and she added an orchid at the shoulder.

The groom was graduated in 1958 from the University of Washington Medical School where he was a member of Phi Chi fraternity and is now interning at Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

The bride prepared at St. Joseph's Academy in Bay St. Louis and is a graduate of Charity Hospital School of Nursing. She also studied at Louisiana State University in New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

TO THE VOTERS AND RESIDENTS OF BEAT #4, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

Please accept this as my official announcement of my candidacy for the office of Supervisor of Beat 4.

I am 46 years old, married to the former Melva Seal we have two sons, namely: Douglas, 15 and Herman Ray 13.

I have been in the farm and dairy business for the past eighteen years. Since January 3rd, 1956 I have also been serving as Chief Deputy Sheriff of Hancock County.

I made the decision to run for the office of Board of Supervisor after having been solicited by and on the advice of my many friends.

During the past eleven years our beat, under the leadership of our present board member, has been hopelessly digging itself into a rut of high taxation and increased bond indebtedness with a net result of nothing on the side of progress or improvements. If after eleven years of effort, there has been little or no progress in proportion to the amount of expenditures and indebtedness and high rate of taxation, certainly we should realize the necessity for a change.

I am well aware of the duties and responsibilities of the office of Board of Supervisor. Your Supervisor is responsible for the maintenance of your roads and bridges. He is the one that spends your tax dollars.

If I am elected as your Supervisor I will give you an Honest, Capable and Efficient administration, getting for our beat a dollar value for every dollar spent. We must black-top our main roads and gravel others. We must repair and rebuild our bridges. I firmly believe that this can be accomplished with the present amount of money that is allotted to our beat.

I will personally supervise all work on roads and bridges in our beat and give it my undivided attention.

I solicit the vote and influence of every lady and gentleman and I hope to get around and see each and everyone personally.

Cordially, James Necaise, Candidate for Board of Supervisor, Beat Four, Hancock County, Mississippi. (Pd, Pol. Adv.)

Cage Starters Told In North Central Opening

Basketball, normally a winter sport, will be the featured attraction at the open house Friday at the new North Central High School, when a combined team from Sellers and Kilm School take to the court against South Mississippi champions from Palmetto High School at 8 p.m.

Local Track Squads Low Of Meet List

Two local teams placed well down the line in the District 8 track and field meet at Perkins Junior College last Thursday. The St. Stanislaus College squad gained 11 points for fifth place while Bay High School scored 6 1/2.

Bay High coach Lance Lumpkin nevertheless came home encouraged by his boys' showing, noting that they had never before competed in high jumping, pole vaulting and other field event categories. Their only previous experience in such a meet was an informal afternoon with Piquette. He expressed hope that track equipment will be available locally another year to groom the team for such occasions.

In the afternoon qualifying round, BHS' Tommy Johnston placed in the high hurdle group with a 18.5 and Bill Watts in the 2:20 run with a time of 25.8. In the night events, Jeffrey Schultz ran second in the mile run with a 5:18 to the event winner's 5:17. Bert Taylor tied for third in the high jump. Lumpkin observed that the jump was 5.5, an inch or so higher than Taylor stands.

Freddie Bourgeois starred for the Rockchaws taking third place

Coach James Johnson of Kilm, who will guide the new North Central outfit next season, expects to choose his starting lineup from among seven players who have shown up best in the last two weeks of practice.

He listed as likely starters Wayne Necaise of Sellers of Donald Necaise of Kilm at center with Sellers' Burlin Necaise, Barney Necaise or Douglas Necaise, both of Kilm, contending for slots at guard. Assured of forward berths are Calvin Shaw of Sellers and John Necaise of Kilm.

During the regular season, the Kilm squad posted a record of 21 wins to nine losses and Sellers, with a heavier schedule, played to 28 wins and nine losses.

A B team game at 7 p.m. will precede the varsity contest. Sellers coach Billie Bob Gray, who will coach at Bay High School next fall, has been working with Johnson on the practice sessions.

Firing Exercises Occupy Guard Unit

Members of Army National Guard Company, 3, 890th Engineers, were at Camp Shelby last weekend to participate in the annual firing exercises, according to Lt. Irvin Kingston, commanding officer.

Exercises included carbine, M-1 rifle, submachine gun (grease gun) and pistol range firing.

In the 440 yard run and joining James Shippy, Brook DeBuy and Wayne Cleveland to win fourth in the mile relay. Carlos Lam was fourth in the broad jump. Biloxi High School took the individual team title. Twelve Class A schools participated in the event.

WHERE'D IT GO?—The youngster in the background follows the route of the ball just flung by St. Stanislaus ace pitcher Herman Jacobi during a practice session last week.

Rains Curtail Baseball Play

Between rainy weather and wet ground, baseball was virtually ruled out in Hancock County during the last week but a full program of rescheduled games is shaping up for the next few days.

Bay High School found itself rained out both Friday against Piquette and Monday with Pass Christian. The Piquette game has been rescheduled there for this Monday.

Gulfport comes here today to open a four-day diamond calendar for St. Stanislaus. The Rockchaws play Long Beach there Friday while they will be hosts to McGill Institute of Mobile on Saturday and to Notre Dame of Biloxi on Sunday.

The rangy, dark-haired dairyman is the son of Dr. Forest Zeno Goss, known to rural residents throughout the county as the last of the Hancock County's country doctors. The son acquired his 250-acre property from his father in 1948 and began dairying the same year.

He turned to Holsteins when "I got tired of milking Jerseys and not getting much milk," today 100 acres of the farm are in pasture, 125 in timber and 20 in row cropping—grass and clover.

Goss is particularly proud of the home which he built for his family, felling and drying his own timber, in 1953. By doing almost all of his own work he was able to construct an exceptionally fine home for one third of what the cost would have been if he had had to buy materials.

Married to the former Wanda Fincher, Goss has a 10-year-old son, Barron, and served with the Navy in World War II.

April 30 Filing Deadline for Wool Program

Wool growers who marketed their clip between April 1, 1958, and March 31, 1959, are urged to file applications for payment under the national wool program before the April 30 deadline by Fitzhugh Lee, chairman of the Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He noted that prompt filing will speed up the payment as the rate will be determined as soon afterwards as possible. The U. S. Department of Agriculture needs information from the applications in computing the average wool price received by growers in the 1958 marketing year.

Payments are made to growers as an incentive to increase wool production. The rate is the percentage necessary to bring the national average price received by growers for wool up to 62 cents a pound. The percentage method of payment encourages a good job of marketing, since the grower who receives the highest price for his wool also receives the largest payment, he noted.

SCHOOLS GET $9.7 MILLION

This was important news in April, 1934 when the legislature appropriated $9,702,294 for educational purposes during the biennium. Today, schools in Mississippi receive well over $100 million for the two-year period. Advances in education match the economic growth of the state, offering greater opportunity for all.

The legally-regulated beer industry has added substantially to Mississippi's growth. Now employing nearly 16,000 persons, the 5,000 beer retailers and 57 wholesalers in Mississippi have an investment of over $28 million in trucks, buildings and equipment.

The legal beer industry provides an important market for a wide variety of farm produce, too.

The state's tax on malt beverages is one of the highest in the nation. Largely through public acceptance of this beverage of moderation, legally-regulated beer still brings about $4 million in taxes a year; nearly one-fourth the sum needed to retain Home-Exemption and important funds for Old Age pensions, school and rural road programs and other necessary government functions.

Local Guard Company Made Transport Unit

Bay St. Louis National Guard Company, 890th Engineers, heavy construction unit, will become a light truck transportation outfit on May 1 under the general reorganization of the Mississippi guard announced by Maj. Gen. William P. Wilson, adjutant general of the state.

Lt. Irvin Kingston, commanding officer of the company, said he expects to complete the conversion to the 134th Transportation Company in time for intensive training in the new phase by the time the company goes on summer maneuvers, June 28 to July 13 at Camp Shelby.

The reorganization will mean a complete change in equipment for the local Army National Guard unit as well as revision of job assignments. New training will begin in May with the assignments to be reviewed at the May 4 meeting.

One officer of the company, Lt. George Nazarian, is being transferred to Company A, 190th Engineers, at Picayune, with the shift, Kingston reported.

He added that the Bay St. Louis company is now at its full strength with 89 members and applications are being accepted for vacancies which will arise through future discharges.

The guard's armory is now under construction and should be ready for occupancy by fall, the CO said.

In announcing reorganization of the Mississippi guard, General Wilson noted the move is in accordance with directives from the Department of Defense in Washington and the troop allocation has been received and accepted by the state.

The number of headquarters, company or battery and detachment size units will be reduced from 152 to 123 but all guardsmen and guard armories will be

Smokey Bear Reading Club Planned at Library Here

City-County Memorial Library will participate in the Smokey Bear Vacation Reading Club which will be conducted throughout the state for the third consecutive summer, Mrs. K. Wilson, librarian, has announced.

The club for conservation reading is for children aged six through 10 and the starting date for this summer's activities will be announced later.

Joint sponsors for the program, offered to any local library wishing to participate, are the Mississippi Library Commission and the Mississippi Forestry Commission. The Mississippi National Forests are co-sponsors of the Smokey Bear program for the state and the forestry commission supplies all Smoky materials for the reading clubs. The library commission serves as advisor and as a source of books for local libraries.

Children wishing to join the club must sign the conservation pledge at the library and they will receive Smokey Bear materials. One is a card which must be sent to Washington, D. C., and will be returned with a wallet card certifying that the child is an official Junior Forest Ranger whose duties are forest conservation and forest fire prevention.
